Marcin Tubielewicz

Technology enthusiast with extensive experience and advanced technical, analytical and interpersonal skills, ready to collaborate on the success of your company.

Białe Błota, Kujawsko-pomorskie, Poland

Summary

I am an experienced professional whose approach to work harmonizes extensive professional experience with a passion for technology and knowledge acquired during my studies in computer science and business. Thanks to my accumulated experience, openness to new challenges and constant striving for development, I excel in a wide variety of fields.

My professional portfolio is very diverse, encompassing both solid technical skills, data analysis and interpersonal skills. I excel in difficult situations that require quick decisions, and my communication skills are key in both customer/supplier relationships and effective teamwork.

Currently, I am expanding the education I have recently acquired by developing my skills in the broad field of BigData. One of the achievements in this area is a self-built cluster, with the help of which I am developing my competence in Apache Spark, Apache Hadoop, HDFS technologies, or Java and Scala programming languages, as well as the Linux operating system itself.
